Build powerful user macros to automate workflow tasks. KeyMacro features full support for macros for the new Rich Text Format (RTF) file type, as well as support for additional File Format types (Excel, Microsoft Works, PDF, PDF/A-1a, Plain Text). In addition to RTF and file format support, KeyMacro also includes support for text formatting, page management, document management, and integrated pdf forms, to help you get even more done with your Mac. Macros are available in two modes: Immediate mode and Text Only mode. In Immediate mode, a macro executes when you press a hotkey, while in Text Only mode, the macro runs when you insert text into a document, converting it into a powerful, reusable text command. You can create all sorts of macros for all sorts of tasks. Easily search and edit macros in KeyMacro. Creating and editing macros is a simple, three-step process, with access to a comprehensive list of keywords and functions, as well as the ability to view the macro's definition directly in the KeyMacro editor. KeyMacro also includes comprehensive support for running scripts, or Quick Programs. Quick Programs are run from within a text field or a web link in a document or email message, and can be combined into powerful tasks that are easily searchable and editable. You can even set Quick Programs to run automatically, upon the occurrence of certain events. Large application with powerful features KeyMacro supports the Mac platform, with a useful set of features to help you work smarter, faster, and more effectively. KeyMacro allows you to view a document's page structure, convert an entire document into a complete text file, and easily convert text to HTML, plain text, or rich text. You can also search for keywords and reuse text throughout the document. KeyMacro supports OCR, PDF import, enhanced autofill capabilities, and more. The KeyMacro application is easy to use with a quick, simple, intuitive interface, and can be accessed in two modes: Immediate mode or Text Only mode. In Immediate mode, a macro executes when you press a hotkey, while in Text Only mode, the macro runs when you insert text into a document, converting it into a powerful, reusable text command.
