A: Ok, finally I found the solution. It is very simple. I do not put my question correctly. I hope you help me. I have made a good program for study, it is very used in my course. The program have a lot of technique to draw the columns for ANOVA analysis. It was very difficult to find the way to be done a report for this technique, so I decided to do a simple report that show as much information and in as little space as possible. The Information that the program that I have done is in a table. There are five columns and every row of table has the information of my object as a matrix, for example, if I have this formula: (column a*b+c)*d/e. la b c d el 13 3 4 4 2l 14 4 7 8 3l 17 5 5 4 3l The result would be: lx yl wzl p1l p2l p3l 11 3l 5l 2l 8l 2l 11 4l 9l 2l 4l 3l 11 7l 4l 1l 5l 4l Where x is column b and wz is column d, and p is column e. And then, this table is put in this format that you put it in the "StdDevs" and the "Table 5.1" field to do the "ANOVA". You can even export it to excel with very few seconds and after that you can make a report in the lab report system that I use, and all the information of every experiment is there. You can very easily print, see and record what you have done in excel. When I made it, the good thing is that it is very simple to do, the bad thing is that I did not find this information in the internet. All the work in the program is done and I do not remember who did it. If you think you can help me with my problem and my project and course that I do, I would be very grateful if you do
