Roblox is a website that lets you create your own games. You can play games or create new ones. You can build things, characters, places, stories, and more. And best of all, you can play your games or things anyplace on the web. If you're ready to start gaming, click "start game" now. Roblox features many games for kids, tweens, boys, girls, boys, and girls. All games and apps are rated from E to T and are designed to keep kids safe from the real world. All games require in-game payments. The most important part of your game is your imagination. So use that to create your game and share it with others. Much of the Roblox website is customizable, with many choices. You can change a lot about the site and how you interact with it. How do I make my game? You can make your game using your creativity, ideas, and endless imagination. All you need is a laptop, a webcam, and an internet connection. There are no in-game purchases, no hidden costs, no strings attached. To make games you are free to customize, create, and play. You are free to work however you like and you are free to keep working on your game as long as you like. How do I make money with my game? The most important thing to understand when making games is that Roblox is a game creation platform. Roblox was not intended to be a site where you could sell games or make money. Robux, the game currency, was meant to be a way for you to play your games and help to support Roblox. If you want to make a lot of money, you should create your game elsewhere. Roblox does charge a small amount in order to cover the costs of running the game development platform. We encourage you to keep these funds in the Robux virtual currency and play with it. If you want to start a business, you should look at the Robux website for support and guidance. How do I support my game and site? You can support your game and site by creating great content for other people to play and create. If you want to share your games or things, there are many ways to do that. The most important thing is
